Saturday afternoon at Princeton the Hopkinsville High School football te m added another scalp to her belt by the score of 35 to 0. Although weakened by the absence of Armstrong and Twyman from the squad, the result was never in doubt, the Hoptown iads displaying superlority in every department of play. In line plunging, end running, kicking, receiving punts, interference, breaking up interference-in fact in all that constitutes the modern game the Hopkinsville contingent seemed to be on edge. Touchdowns were made as follows: Weaks one, Rives one, Gary one, Roberts one and Abbitt two. In addition to these Robertson dropped back and lifted the pigskin over the uprights for three more points, the first drop kick made by the High School in severai seasons.

The work of the team was both good and bad, good individually but at times sadiy off color in team work. Green at quarter ran his team like a veteran. Abbitt, Rives and Higgins piunged the line and ran the ends almost at will, but the interference was very ragged at times. In the iine the work of Waiker and Lander was especially good, particularly in breaking up the plays of the opposition before they got started. AMUSEMENTS

"The Cow Boy Girl"

The best western play to appear in Hopkinsville this season will appear under the above title on the evening of Thursday, October 26. The company use their own special scenery and mechanical effects, and carry their own big Cow Boy Band, and will give a big concert in front of the opera house on the evening of the performance.

Western plays are surely the rage this season and the "Cow Boy Girl" is in the front rank—ahead of them all. A large attendance should greet the company on their appearance here, and as prices have been raduced to 25-35-50 cents for this occasion very one should attend.

BUFFALO VERNON

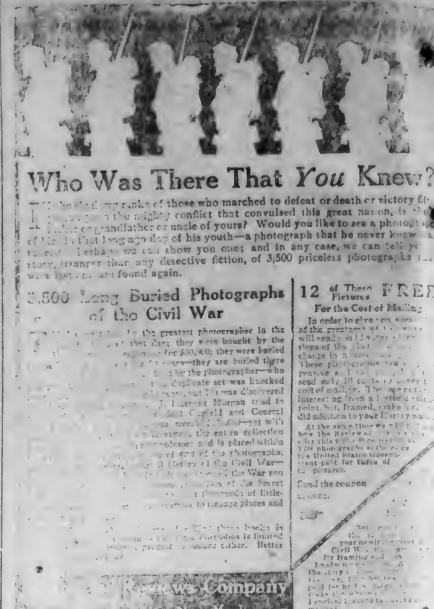

Which Exhibits Here Nov. 1.

Each year at Cheyenne, Wyo., a celebration is given by the cowbovs which they call "Pion eer's Day." Cowboys come from all parts of the West to contest with each other in riding outlaw horses, roping steers, and other hazardous pastimes familiar to the great plains. A horse known as "Old Steamboat" has been the star performer at Cheyenne among the outlaws for the past five years. "Old Steamboat succeeded in throwing all comers until Buffalo Vernon tried issues with him. Vernon succeeded in staying on the back of the famous outlaw, but he required the attention of several surgeons after his experience with "Old Steamboat." Buffa'o Vernon is the star broncho buster with the Young Buffalo Wild West show which will exhibit in this city Wednesday, Nov. 1, afternoon and night, at Mercer Park. The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive eure now known to the medical traternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much fatth in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it falls to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

ADDRESS Are Kentuckians Willing to Be "Tail Eanders?"

FINE CATTLE AND CHILDREN

Heifers and One Teacher For Thirty-six, Sixty and Even a Hundred

I had known for a long time that; Kentucky's standing in matters educational was very low, I had known that she was in the grip of illiteracy, with all its attendant evils, but I had hardly expected to find such a large number of her rural population willing simply "to let things go." One day while chatting with a member of a county board of education in a rickcounty he happened to say:

"I tell you, I've been interested in education, mightily interested, for a iong time. I've been on this board for mighty night en year."

"I am delighted to hear you sny that von are interested." I hastened to reply, "for you know Kentucky stands thirty-ninth in the list of the states when it comes to education. That's not very far from the end of the list. We need men like you to help us keep things moving."

The old gentlemnn stroked his grizzled beard thoughtfully, and I felt certain that I had made a vivid impres sion. A smile, a very small smile, wrinkled the corners of his eyes as he said quietty:

"I reckon you forgot one thing in this whole business-somebody's got to be 'Inil eanders,' nlu't they?'

I had a glimpse of rural Kentucky's attitude toward education.

"Blue ribbon?" I asked the man wenring a broad smile as he came down the main roadway.

"You bet!" he exclaimed. He caught sight of my camera and continued. Don't you want to take a snapshot of my helfer?"

As he turned the splendld young have the honor of selling the first animal into position for a photograph I find a chilice to look her over carefully. I was certain she was of royal blood, for her horns looked like pol-finished bedding her down. -"I have my hands full this time," be exclaimed. "I have seven to take care of. That's about the limit when you are doing the State Fair, all right."

I left the barn and went out into the roadway to think. I recalled vividly a school visited only the day before where a young man in Jefferson county was striving to handle thirtysix boys and girls in all eight grades and another school where a tired woman worried with sixty-five. I have seen 100 in one room.

The rondway was crowded with splendid, healthy boys and girls, brown with the kisses of n summer sun. They were laughing and chattering, full to overflowing with the zest of living. Watching them as they passed, thought:

"Goodness! What is the uniter with onr oid commonwealth when the stockmen all know that it takes one man to handle seven Jersey helfers in a state fulr and they do not know that one teacher cannot possibly hundle from thirty to seventy young animals and have them in condition to take prizes in the show ring of life?' were not getting a fair, aquare deal.

Vanity.

A a to the total and the total and the total and the

A real friendship with a vain woman lacks comfort and sincerity. Wound for a second her vanity and the friendship snaps. Many people wonder at the attraction of who are undenlably plain, but it often has its root in the fact that they are facking in vanity. They are not constantly absorbed in their own charms, so have time to admire those of other people, consequently they are seldom lacking in friends. Vanity is not altogether an attribute of the grown-up. One sees it frequently developed to an alarming extent in young children. Nor is it a matter for amusement. Rather should every mother strive to uproot this tendency. Ridicule is one of the swift;

est ways of extinguishing it. Children should be taught not to attach importance to whatever physical charms they may possess. Beautiful eyes, a lovely mouth or a delightful nose should not be subjects of comment, but if commented upon at all should be lightly done, for no child should be started in life with the handlcap of vanity.-Exchange.

Children and Firearms Again.

Little Anna Quinn, fourteen years old, was instantly killed the other day at Lowell, Mass., by the explosion of a revolver held by her playmate, Thelma Borg, aged twelve years. The two children, with Sonia Borg, a sister of Thelma, and another play-fellow, were playing about the Borg Lome when they discovered the revolver. After all had looked at it, Anna playfully held it against the heart of Thelma Borg. "I'm going to kill you," she said, smilingly. The trigge: was pulled, but the revolver failed to explode. Once more the weapon was examined by the children and then Thelma Borg took it and placed it close to the Quinn child's head. Playfully she exclaimed: "You killed me; now I'm going to kill you." She fired. This time the weapon exploded.

Odd Sentences.

"Break rock for 100 days or go to church every Sunday for six months," was the sentence imposed upon three Kansas Clty (Mo.) boys, after they had been convicted of throwing eggs at pedestrians.

"I sentence this boy to a whipping every morning for a month. Not the namby pamby kind, but good, real hard ones; ones that'll make him eat off a mantelpiece. You'll find then that he'll develop into a good boy." This was the remedy prescribed by magisterial wisdom in the case of an eightyear-old boy who, his mother said, had a mania for running away from home,-Case and Comment.

MAKING RUGS IN THE ORIENT

Women and Girls Do the Weaving and Methods and Patterns Are Traditional.

nusts of antiquity, weaving has been the vork of women, though the modern factory of the west has brought the an hanging east weaving is, with few executions, women's work. In the interior of Asiatic Turkey and in exists and the some bring their wives home to live. I have known as many ling," writes Mrs. Eliza Dunn in her new book, "Rugs in Their Native Land." "The mother-in-law is queen of the household and every morning assigns to each woman and girl her task for the day." Methods of working as well as patterns are traditional, according to the same author, and designs are peculiar to special families or tribes and become so familiar that the older workers produce them from memory.

The art of tying in the yarn has to be learned very slowly. The younger children are allowed to tie! in only one solid color on the plain background, but when a girl beeomes fairly expert she is allowed to make a whole rug, and traces of individuality may be looked for in her weaving. The two classes of rug, Turkish and Persian, are distinguished by the kind of knot in which they are tied, the Ghiordes, or Turkish, the Senna, or Persian, knot.

The number of knots to the square inch is one of the tests of value of a modern rug, and the fact that more ean be tied to the square inch in a Persian than in a Turkish rug accounts for the greater fineness and eonsequently greater eostliness of the former.

HE IS TIRED OF TIPPING

Experience of Returning New Yorker Drives Him to Safety Razor and Asparagus Farm.

A New Yorker who had voluntarily absented himself from the only town in which life is worth while came back and revisited his usual haunts. Going into the barber shop he was greeted at the door by a maiden of tender years, who threw open the means of entrance with a gracious air. He tipped her. A youth hung up his coat and collar. He tipped him. The barber applied the lather and fed him with gossip worthy of his famous prototype who held the noses of the great in Savonarola's day. He got his tip. Then came the boy who held his coat and the boy who brushed him off, each to be mollified with the one unetuous application that soothes all wounds. As he started to leave, the poodle leaped into a chair by the door and held up his two paws appealingly. The gentleman has since bought a safety razor and is now dickering for an asparagus farm in the wilds of New Jersey.

POWER OF GROWING PLANTS.

The layman would searcely associate great strength with so delicate and fragile a thing as maidenhair fern, yet if its roots have not sufficcient room they will break the pot in which the plant grows. Blades of grass will force the curbstones between which they spring up out of their place, and in single night a crop of small mushrooms has been known to lift a large stone. Indeed, plants are on record as having brokon the hardest rocks. The island of Aldabra, to the northwest of Madagascar, is now becoming smaller through the action of the mangroves that grow along the foot of the cliffs. They eat their way into the rock in all directions, and into the gaps thus formed the waves force their way.' In time they will probably reduce the island to pieces.

"SONGS WITHOUT WORDS."

Mendelssohn's "Songe Without Words" are said to have originated in an idea in a letter sent to his sister, whom the composed loved most devotedly? He wrote: "I wish I were with you; but as that is impossible I have written a song for you expressive of my wishes and thoughts." Then followed what many conclude was the germ of the "Songs Without Words."

NOT WHAT LORD INTENDED

Too Many, Young Ministers Felt Destined to Marry the Pretty Young Woman.

Among the attendants at a laie Methodist conference was a very beautiful and intelligent looking young lady, who drew the admiring gaze of many eyes, particularly eyes masch line, aiways on the lookout for pretty feminine faces. During the into misstepped up to the presiding elder, and said, with an air of secrecy-

"Did you observe the young lady who sat by the first piliar on the left?" "Yes," said the elder, "what of her?"

"Why," said the young man, "I feel impressed that the Lord desires me to take that lady for a wife. I think she would make a good companion and helpmeet in the work of the ministry."

The elder, as a good Christian ought, had nothing to object.

But in a fow moments another candidate for ministerial efforts and honors, and for the name of husband, came confidentially to make known a like impression regarding the same identical young lady.

"You had better wait a while. It is the source of such impressions," said the prudent elder.

And he said weil; for hardly were the steps of the second youth cold at his side, ere a third approached with the same story; and while the worthy confidant still marveled, a fourth drew, near with the question-

"Did you notice the fine, noble-looking woman on your left?"

"Yes," cried the swelling elder. "Well, sir," went on the fourth victml of that unsuspicious girl, "it is strongly borne in upon my mind that it is the will of the Lord that I should make proposals of marriage to that lady. He has impressed me that she is to be my wife."

The elder could hold in no longer. "Impossible! impossible!" he exclaimed in an excited tone, "the Lord never could have intended that four men ahould marry that one woman."

KAISER CAREFUL OF PENNIES

Wilhelm Would Not Let His Daughter Pay Mark for Buttons That She Desired.

The German emperor is a great man for detail, and even the dresses worn by his fair subjects receive his attention. At Wiesbaden on one occasion he exclaimed: "In this town all the ladies dress well. But only here. Ahl I wish ali German women were as a la mode as the Wiesbadeners." When some one railed him for pick, ing a fault with his own countrymen he exclaimed: 'But I'll do them this justice—thank heaven, they do not herself files to the rouge or powder pot." The kaiser is exacting, too, and Victoria Louise, and in which she was to appear at a great military parade. The princess complained to the court dressmaker that the buttons were of insignificant size, and accordingly the dressmaker showed some far more attractive ones, but they cost one mark (one shilling) each. The princess admired them, but doubted if she would be allowed to pay the price, and, in the absence of the kaiscrip, decided to ask her imperial father. The result was that when the court dressmaker returned the same afternoon to learn the decision it was to hear that the emperor had decided that a mark as too high a price and that the princess had been told that she must not think of being so extravagant,-Dundee Advertiscr.

In the year 1716 a girl called Marie d'Abbadie was hired as a servant in an inn at Pierrefitte, France. She was the daughter of peasants named Dominique Habas and Marie d'Abbadie. A Bearnais from the village of Boellh, whose name was Jean de Saint-Jean, stayed in this inn, saw the pretty maid, fell in love with her and on May 30, 1719, wedded her in the church at Assat. They had several daughters, the eldest of whom, on Feb. 20, 1754, was married at Boellh to Henri Bernadotte, physician, son of Jean Bernadotte, master tallor. Their son was Napoleon's Marshai Bernadotte, who became king of Sweden and whose great grandsons and great granddaughter are respectively King Gustave V. of Sweden, King Haakon VII. of Norway and the Queen of Denmark.

Rose to High Position.

The Selfish Cook. Judge E. H. Gary, at a dinner in Washington, said that the successful man's work was always, to a certain extent, unselfish. "I mean," he explained, "that the successful man shows in his work one of the spirit evinced by a certain Wheaton cook.

"This cook; on a hot afternoon, was was making a frozen custard. She slapped her ingredients together with such carelessness that a kitchen maid

"'You're certainly not giving much attention to that custard, cook!" "'Why should 1?" the cook answered. 'They never leave any for us.'"

MISS SUSAN GLASPELL'S DOG

"Volia" is the Original of the Two Delightful Pupples in "The Visioning."

Miss Susan Glaspell, the author, has a dog, which fact is of more importance than might at first appear. For in her new novei, "The Visioning." are introduced two frollesome puppies named Pourquoi and N'est-ce-pas. And there are no two more real characters in the whole book than Why and Ain't It, to use their names in English form.

It was Miss Glaspeil's own dog, a hohemian beast, that inspired the creation of "The Visioning's" twin puppy clowns. The real dog also has a French name, Viola. When its owner hought it, over in Paris, she wanted at first to name it Raspall, both in memory of the boulevard on which she lived and as a sympathetic cog-romen for a sensitive souled Parislan dog. But her family objected. They could not see their way clear to shouting, "Come, Raspail! Raspail! Raspail!" So Miss Glaspell compromised on Volla.

Volla has vagaries. It is a wanderer. It is a coille, and a collle, it evidently thinks, ought to be afield. Whenever it feels that way, away Voila goes. Fortunately, it wears a collar with Miss Glaspell's name and address. She has come to think nothing of such a phone message as this:

"Hello! Is dis Miss Gla rell? Vell dis ls der bartender bel Hans Bummelransen's saloon. No, no, vait! I didn't got der wrong phone number. I choost vant to say I got here your tog. Vili you come for him?"

The the author of "The Visioning" has to drop chapter plans and seek out Herr Bummeiransen's place with sorrow-and a dollar. But were it not so there might never have been a N'est-ce-pas and a Pourquoi.

HAD HIS REVENGE PLANNED

Editor Who Was Cut hy Plain hut Successful Author Knew How to Get Even.

The editor of a newspaper having been cut at Brighton hy a plain little man, said to his wife, in explanation: "Woll, why shouldn't he cut me? He has produced a novel that actually seils, and all great men are vain. Look at Gibbon.

"Gibbon, you know, wrote in his diary: 'I am the greatest historian that ever lived. No one can equal me in this direction."

"Victor Hugo wroto to Bismarek: 'The giant greets the giant; the foe the fee; the friend the friend. I hate thee furiously because thou hast humbled France. I love thee because I am greater than thou art.'

"And Wordsworth said of the Swan of Avon: 'There is an immensity of trick in all he wrote. If I had a mind I could write exactly like Shakes-

"No wonder, then, the weedy little chap cut mo," the editor concluded. 'But I'll get even with him. I'll snapshot him in his hathing-suit and send the picture to the illustrated papers read by ladies and children. This will cause his sales to fall off at least 80 per cent."-London Tit-Bits.

Liverpool.

The population of Liverpool is mixed. At the 1901 census the population was 685,000. Of these 55. 000 wero Irish, 20,700 Weish, 17,000 Scotch and 12,000 foreign (3,000 of whom were naturalized residenta). The foreign residents consist of wealthy merchants and representatives of foreign firms; a Jewish quar, ter engaged chiefly in the chothing and furniture trade; a Chinese quarter, and a little patch of Scandinavians. Liverpool is the stronghold of the Roman Cathelics in England, onequarter of its citizens heing members of that body. The Low Church party is also strong, and between s certain section of that party—the Orangemen—and the Catholics a hitter feud exists. Of the other religious hodies the Unitarians are strong, not numerically, but in influence. The corporation has 13 parks and 50 open spaces laid out as gardens or recreation grounds—in ail ahout 1,069 acres.-Westminster Gazette.

'Possum Points the Way. In removing the dehris from the cellar of the old Riggs house, which has been torn down, a number of Washington workmen the other day discovered a hig, fat 'possum, which they mistook for an enormous rat, and fled precipitately. The effects upon the negro of the refinements of higher education and the white man's civilization may well bo chailenged when it destroys the nature of the race to the extent that its members fail to recognize a fine, fat 'possum when they see it, says the Baitimore Sun, About one more generation of progress along the same line and we will see a colored man and hrother shying at the watermelon and running from the yeilow-legged pullet.

The Rural Uplift. "Has your family been of much assistance to you in running the piace?" "I should say so," replied Farmer Corntossel. "Food has been so high that the summer board season would have been a failure if it hadn't been fur mother and our son Josh."

"They saved the expenses of help?" "No, sir. But Josh is a right good hand in a poker game an' the way mother picked up bridge was somethin' amazin'."

CUTTING THROUGH CAPE COD THE Canal That Will Save 120 Miles of Sailing May Be Completed Next Year.

So much attention has been given to the digging of the grat ship canai across the Isthmus of Panama, and, ioeally, so much interest being expended in the slow and tedlous building of the barge canal across New York state, that sight has almost been lost of the Cape Cod canal, which has heen in progress since June, 1890. This canal has been projected since 1620, for the Pilgrims saw the advantago of saving this 120 miles of sailing around Cape Cod, and the danger from the storms that at seasons of the year are said to be very severo off the cape itself. In the last 60 years there have been 2,131 sailing vessels lost on these voyages, and more than 700 lives. It is said that more than 35,000,000 tons of freight are carried yearly past the mouths of the canal, and the saving in freightage alone will be enough to pay for the construction of the canul in a very short time. Insurance rates that will be saved in the construction of the short cut will be a very large figure, for the companies have learned that the fogs and gales are very destructive and that losses demand high premiums upon all cargoes.

The canal will run from Barnstable bay on the south side of Buzzard's bay on the north side, and will lessen the difference in distance between New York and Boston by water about 120 miles. It will be large enough for the largest vessels affoat, and it is expected that it will be completed in 1912, though this statement is doubted by some, as trouble his been had with several contractors who have failed to complete their work.—Utica Ob-

HOW TALKING SIGNS WORK

Mechanism of These Changing Electric Light Bulletins is Intricate but Operates Easily.

The electric light talking sign was introduced to Now York about ten years ago, one of the earliest if not the first one displayed being that at Broadway and Thirty-sixth street. By changing the firm or goods to be advertised such a sign becomes a permanent investment. This possibility is of equal value to the advertiser, for it is of course less expensive to hire such service for a desired length of time than to erect a large sign for his own exclusive use.

One of these talking signs, which is 75 feet long, has letters 5 feet high and 4 feet broad. The space is divided into fifteen monograms, as they are called. Each of these monograms contains forty-eight changes. That is, fortyeight letters and numerals can be shown in successively in that one 4x5 foot space. Each monogram space is perforated by forty lamps which form the forty-eight combinations.

The changes are controlled by rather intricate arrangement which, according to the Edison Monthly, consists of a motor with a commutator for each monogram. By a system of metal dogs, not unlike the Yale lock in principle, the arrangement can be so adjusted beforehand that the proper connections are made with each revolution of the communatator to form the letters and figures wanted in a certain order. Readjustment can he made as often as desired, so that if the owner needs to have a new message each night he has only to plan out the combinations.

Luther Epley Obtains Verdicts Against Kirby and Isbell For Cruelty.

ASYLUM DAMAGE SUITS TRIED

Circuit Court is Making Good Progress in Clearing the Civil Docket.

An important case, or rather two companion cases, were tried in circuit court Saturday, as a sequel to prosecutions in court last spring. Chas. Kirby and Fred Isbell, two attendants in the Western Asylum about two years ago were charged with cruelty to Luther Epley, a patient from Epley, Logan county. Epley was beaten severely, one or more of his ribs being broken and one of the ligaments of a foot being torn loose and other injuries of a more or less serious nature inflicted. When the facts became known the men were promptly discharged and later were indicted by the grand jury, tried and fines imposed.

Epley was later discharged as cured and brought damage suits against both men. These were tried at the same time, by different juries. The juries were kept apart and the testimony presented to one at a time, there being but few witnesses. Neither of the defendants was present, one of them being in poor health and the other financially unable to look after the case, except to retain an attorney. The juries each returned verdicts of guilty. Against Kirly damages in the sum of $1200 were Ister's insolvent.
